Organized by: The GNRC South Asia Secretariat

Regional Training of Trainers Course on the use of the 'Learning To Live Together' manual for Ethics Education for Children

Introduction:

The GNRC South Asia Secretariat invites you to apply for taking part in the Regional Training of Trainers on the Learning To Live Together manual on Ethics Education for Children.

This course aims to build a regional pool of trainers who will support the implementation of 'Learning To Live Together' - Ethics Education programme for Children in each of the countries. This is the first regional training of trainers organized by GNRC South Asia and builds on the work carried out under the Ethics Education programme over the past 5 years within the region.

Global Network of Religions for Children (GNRC):

The Global Network of Religions for Children (GNRC), is a worldwide interfaith network exclusively devoted to working for child rights and other children's issues. The GNRC was inaugurated in May 2000 by the Arigatou Foundation, a NGO holding special consultative status with ECOSOC of the United Nations, and the Foundation continues to support its work today.

A diverse group of Regional Coordinators facilitates the ongoing work of the GNRC in six major world regions. They work together with the GNRC members of their regions -- children, young people and adults -- to ensure that GNRC initiatives directly address the most difficult challenges that children face in each location.

GNRC members share a set of common priorities in their worldwide work for children. Their initiatives and programs are often designed to integrate more than one these key themes, which are: poverty eradication, child rights, ethics education, peace education, reducing urban violence, protecting the natural environment, and empowering children and young people.

Ethics Education Programme for Children:

The 'Learning To Live Together' Ethics Education program is an initiative to promote value-based and quality education for children and young people within the framework of the child's right to education, as stated in the UN Convention of the Rights of the Child.

The 'Learning To Live Together' (LTLT) manual is a resource material for teachers and youth leaders to nurture ethical values that children need in order to learn to live together in plural societies developed by Arigatou International in coordination with UNICEF and UNESCO. To download the full LTLT manual, please click here

Since the Second Forum of the GNRC in 2004, GNRC members have organized projects related to ethics education in their countries. Various initiatives and actions have been recently taken at regional, national and local levels in order to respond to the ethical challenges that children face. Not only adults but also children and youth are important actors in moving ahead with these initiatives in each region.

Workshop Details:

Dates : 13th – 18th August, 2011

(Residential Workshop. All participants must take residence at the venue by 08:00pm on Friday 12th August, 2011 and can depart only on completing the course at 05:00pm on 18th August, 2011)

Venue : Vishva Nikethan International Peace Centre
Rawatawatte Road, Moratuwa,
Sri Lanka

About the Participation:

Selected applicants are expected to commit themselves to:

- Pre-training assignment: To maximise the benefits of the course, selected participants will be asked to complete a short preparatory pre-training assignment. Further details will be given to selected participants.
- Full-time participation: Participate full-time in all sessions for the whole duration of the course. Therefore, you must be able to participate in the full period of the course for your application to be considered. If a participant finds he/she must leave early or arrive late after acceptance, their place will be given to another person on the waiting list.
- Costs: All on-site costs related to tuition fees, accommodation and boarding during the duration of the course are covered by the GNRC South Asia.

Participant Profile:

We are very selective on the participants for this workshop and are looking at individuals with strong experience of working with children in a formal or non-formal educational context and preferably with prior exposure to working with the LTLT manual. They should have the capacity to be a trainer, who goes on to train others on the use of the manual and not merely be limited to working directly with children. Participants also should have confirmed support from an organization/institution for implementation of the ethics education programme for Children.

This workshop is not targeting participants who wish merely to equip themselves in facilitating Ethics Education for children or gaining exposure.

Whilst the programme mainly targets participants from the South Asia region we are also looking at opening the opportunity to participants from other parts of Asia and elsewhere.

As a participant you would be...

- Interested in being a trainer on Ethics Education for Children (required)
- Available and committed to support the implementation of the Ethics Education programme with GNRC partner organizations in your country over the next two years. (required)

Accommodation:

The venue of the workshop is the Vishva Niketan International Peace Centre situated at N0. 72/30, Rawatawatte Road, Moratuwa, Sri Lanka.

Vishva Niketan is a peace centre: a place for all nations to pursue the ideal of inner and outer peace. The name Vishva Niketan in Sanskrit means "Universal Abode" and is symbolic of the Centre's desire to include all nations, religions, and ethnicities in its vision of world peace. Vishva Niketan has been established in the firm belief that enduring peace can only be attained when individuals achieve inner peace – cessation of conflict within themselves. In creating an atmosphere of tranquility and serenity close to nature, Vishva Niketan aims to awaken people to their inner spirituality so that they may return to the world beyond to create constructive change.
